

CHINA CONSTRUCTING CAPITALISM

Economic life and urban change

Michael Keith, Scott Lash, Jakob Arnoldi and Tyler Rooker

CONTENTS

List of illustrations	x
Acknowledgements and dedication	xii
Introduction: China versus neoliberalism	1
1 Chinese thought, cultural theory	32
2 Connections, networks, culture: the institutions of Chinese capitalism	54
3 Relational property and urban temporality: China's urbanism in the city of experts	72
4 Local state capitalism? From urban hierarchy to city markets	112
5 Chinese firms and political ties	140
6 Property development: markets and districts	151
7 Trading ethnographies: stuck in China	180
8 Knowing but not doing: the financial sector in China and institutional reform	205
9 Risk cultures: production of Shanghai space	223
10 Shenzhen dwelling: arrival and migrant urbanisms	247
Conclusions: China and the neoclassical subject	275
Notes	290
Bibliography	296
Index	325