

Contents

Introduction	9
Hajo Greif, Larissa Hjorth, Amparo Lasén & Claire Lobet-Maris

Part I: Paradigms of Participation

Online Participation and the New Media	19
Leopoldina Fortunati
From Information to Broadband Society, Whence and Whither?	35
Hajo Greif & Matthias Werner
Participatory Frameworks: Re-tracing Participation in the Theoretical Node Technology/Society	49
Giuseppina Pellegrino
Listening, not Lurking: The Neglected Form of Participation	63
Kate Crawford

Part II: Emotions and Play

Attitudes towards Mobile Phones: A Cross-Cultural Comparison	77
Naomi S. Baron
Emotions and the Mobile Phone	95
Jane Vincent
Playing the Waiting Game: Complicating Notions of (Tele)presence and Gendered Distraction in Casual Mobile Gaming	111
Larissa Hjorth & Ingrid Richardson
Imagined Performativity: The Great Virtue of Cyberspace in Contemporary Chinese Workers' Social Lives	127
Chung Tai Cheng

Part III: Redefining Political Participation

'An Original Protest, at Least.' Mediality and Participation	141
Amparo Lasén & Iñaki Martínez de Albeniz
The Less Expected: An Exploration of the Social and Political Activities on the Internet in China	159
Boxu Yang, Yuan Le & Shanshan An

Part IV: Social Media and Media Practices

The Facebook Family: Information and Communication Technology Redrafting the Rules of Participation in Family Life Brian Simpson	181
The Frenzy of Digital Photography: A Biopolitical Assessment Lieve Gies	195
Hyperlinked Avatars: Negotiating Identities and Social Relations within Social Networking Sites Romina Cachia & Alexandra Haché	211
Tracing the Policy Challenges of the Digital Dividend Lilia Raycheva	229
About the Authors	245