

Contents

Acknowledgments9

Reproductive Technologies as Global Form: Introduction 11
Michi Knecht, Maren Klotz, Stefan Beck

Five Million Miracle Babies Later: The Biocultural
Legacies of IVF27
Sarah Franklin

Localizing In Vitro Fertilization: The Cultural
Work of Encounters with Medical Technologies

Legacies and Linkages: Episodes in the Establishment of
New Reproductive Technologies in Contemporary Sri Lanka61
Bob Simpson

Practitioners as Interface Agents between the Local and the Global: The Localization of IVF in Turkey81
Zeynep B. Gürtin

Making Connections: Reflecting on Trains, Kinship, and Information Technology111
Maren Klotz

National Styles of Reproductive Governance and Global Forms

- The Other Mother: Supplementary Wombs and the Surrogate State in India139

Aditya Bharadwaj

- Assisted Reproductive Technologies in Mali:
Asymmetries and Frictions161

Viola Hörbst

- Concerned Groups in the Field of Reproductive Technologies: A Turkish Case Study197

Nurhak Polat

Tracing Transnational Scapes of Reproductive Technologies: Emergent Forms and Domains of Regulation

- Globalization and Gametes: Reproductive »Tourism,«
Islamic Bioethics, and Middle Eastern Modernity229

Marcia C. Inhorn

- Reproducing Hungarians: Reflections on Fuzzy Boundaries
in Reproductive Border Crossing.....255

Eva-Maria Knoll

- What is Europeanization in the Field of Assisted Reproductive Technologies?283

Maren Klotz & Michi Knecht

Transnational Reproductive Mobilities,
Materialities, and Agencies

Making Interferences: The Cultural Politics of Transnational Ova »Donation«	305
--	-----

Michal Nahman

Resemblance that Matters: On Transnational Anonymized Egg Donation in Two European IVF Clinics	331
---	-----

Sven Bergmann

Biomedical Mobilities: Transnational Lab-Benches and Other Space-Effects	357
---	-----

Stefan Beck

Notes on Contributors	375
-----------------------------	-----

Index of Names and Places	381
---------------------------------	-----