

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments	11
Introduction	13
Simmel's Legacy	13
Modernity and Modernism: A Metacultural Context	14
Between Nietzsche and Marx	16
The Historiographical Context: Profiles of Simmel	18
 1. THE AVANT-GARDE ORIGINS OF SOCIOLOGY: SIMMEL'S UNITY OF EXTREMES, 1880-1900	 23
Simmel and the Countercultural Cosmos of the Late Nineteenth Century	24
Family as Cultural Capital	28
Berlin as Cultural Capital	32
Realism: The Revolutionary Avant-Garde and Bohemian Counterculture	38
Naturalism in Berlin: Unrestrained and Unbridled	41
Simmel and Unbridled Women	46
Ethics as a First Philosophy	49
The Generation of 1890: Naturalism and Socialism	51
Notes	59

2. PHILOSOPHICAL SOCIOLOGY: NIETZSCHE, COMPASSION, AND THE CAPITALIST SOUL

63

Lebensphilosophie as a Sociology of the Soul:
Dilthey and Simmel	64
The Countercultural Difference:
Lebensphilosophie as Nietzschean Socialism	69
Academia and the Politics of Nonconformity	79
The Third Way: Kant, Nietzsche,
and Simmel's Contemporaries	84
The Philosophy of Money (1900)	90
An Aporetic Sociologist against the Capitalist Soul	98
Sociology: Examinations of the Forms of Socialization
(1908)—Compassion and Domination	110
Philosophical Sociology and Nietzschean Socialism	119
Notes	121

3. AN AVANT-GARDE SOCIOLOGY OF WOMEN: SIMMEL, MARIE LUISE ENCKENDORFF, AND MARIANNE WEBER

131

The Female Principle: Simmel as Sexual Avant-Gardist	134
A New Feminine Continent of Culture	142
Marie Luise Enckendorff, Stefan George,
and the Ethics of Marriage	146
Marianne Weber: Liberal versus Avant-Garde Feminism	156
From the Fight for Feminine Culture to International War	161
Notes	161

4. A GREAT WAR OF SPIRITUAL DECISIONS: SIMMEL AND THE IDEAS OF 1914

167

Historiographical Precis	169
A War of Spiritual Decisions: The Culture of Mobilization	175
War as an Absolute Situation	179
Stage One: A War against Mammonism	181
Stage Two: Americanization and Doubt	185
The War of Nietzsche: The Prowar Philosophies
of Simmel and Mann	191
Stage Three: The Search for a Postwar World	197
Notes	200

5. THE SUPERSESSION OF SIMMELIAN THOUGHT: EXPRESSIONISM, RADICAL FEMINISM, AND THE INTERNATIONAL OF SPIRITUAL WORKERS 207

Radical Pedagogue and Teacher of the Artist	210
Kurt Hiller and the Origins of Literary Expressionism	212
The Simmelian Provenance of Literary Expressionism	220
The Master is Dead: The Homosexual Rights Movement	226
Helene Stöcker: Beyond Simmelian Feminism	231
Titans of the Sexual Avant-Garde:
Hiller, Stöcker, Hirschfeld	238
Antiwar Aktivismus and the International of Spirit	240
The Expressionist Origins and Cultural Fate
of Aktivismus	245
Simmel and Cultural Reciprocity	249
The Politics of Love	252
The New Avant-Garde	253
Notes	254

6. TROPES OF THE COMMUNIST SOUL: BLOCH, LUKÁCS, AND THE SIMMEL CIRCLE 267

Tropes and the Culture of War	268
Judaism and the Simmel Circle	272
Jewish Embourgeoisment	273
Bloch and Lukács	276
The Meaning of Cultural Aristocracy	277
A Sociological Science of the Soul	279
Lukács, Bloch, and the Simmelian Soul	284
Passionate Protest and Negative Freedom	291
Bloch, Lukács, and the Ethics of War	293
From Aesthetic Avant-Garde to Cultural Vanguard	296
Simmel's Tragic Legacy	298
Lukács: Beyond the Simmelian Soul	301
Simmel's Divergent Legacies	303
Paradise or Apocalypse?	304
Bloch, Lukács, and the Hegel Debate	307
Love, Death, and Apocalyptic Communism	309
Simmel's Legacy in Western Marxism	312
Notes	314

GEORG SIMMEL

7. CONCLUSION: SIMMEL'S AFTERLIFE: A LEGACY LIKE CASH	327
Notes	331
Bibliography	333
Index	353