

Contents

Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
1 Introduction: generations, war and intellectuals - towards a sociology of generations	1
Introduction	1
The concept of generation	5
The classical tradition	7
Traumatic events: developments in life course research	11
Pierre Bourdieu and generations	13
Active and passive generations	16
2 Generations and culture	24
Post-war generations in the UK: from violence to consumption	30
America and The Closing of the American Mind	34
Conclusion: balancing the impact of the 1960s	42

3	Generations, intellectuals and social movements	46
	Intellectual generations and migration	48
	Intellectual generations in post-war France	61
	Conclusion	68
4	Generations, national consciousness and intellectuals	71
	America	74
	The United Kingdom	78
	Globalization and the cosmopolitan intellectual	87
	Conclusion	91
5	Generations, women and national consciousness	95
	Women and nationalism	96
	Feminist generations and oppositional nationalism	98
	Women and patriarchal Britishness/Englishness	101
	1960s women today and cosmopolitan Englishness	104
	Conclusion	109
6	Conclusion	114
	Bibliography	122
	Index	135