

Contents

Introduction	9
James S. Corum, Olaf Mertelsmann and Kaarel Piirimäe
Mediation and Intervention in the Back of Beyond: Small States in the Eastern Baltic and France's Strategic Calculations, 1936–1940	21
Louis Clerc
Belgian Diplomacy in Exile and the Baltic states 1940–45	39
Thierry Grosbois
Minister T.M. Kivimäki in the Center of Europe – for the Periphery of Europe	71
Pauli Heikkilä
Wartime Diplomacy in London: How Britain Came to Partially Recognize the Soviet Annexation of Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania	87
Tina Tamman
Needs and Realities in Estonian Air Defense: The Interwar Years	99
Mika Raudvassar
The Baltic Region in the Soviet–German War, 1941–1945	121
David M. Glantz
First Air Fleet Operations in the Baltic Region, June–December 1941	149
James S. Corum
The 15th Division of the Latvian Legion in the Fight on the Velikaya River (1 March–14 April 1944): A Case Study in Maintaining Fighting Power	175
Valdis Kuzmins
County Level Operational Groups as Part of the Soviet Strategy to Re-occupy Estonia during the Second World War	193
Ardi Siilaberg

Exodus and Intelligence Operations: the Swedish Military and Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, 1943–45 Lars Ericson Wolke	209
Between Aspiration and Adaptation: German War Propaganda in Occupied Estonia from 1941 till 1942 Kristo Nurmis	223
The Reception of German War Propaganda in Estonia, 1941–1944 Kari Alenius	249
The Relationship of the Military and Civilian Authorities in Estonia during the German Occupation of 1941–1944 Toomas Hiio	273
Second Front in the West: Estonia, the Baltic Question and the Struggle for British Public Opinion, 1941–44 Kaarel Piirimäe	307