

Contents

List of tables	page vii
List of contributors	viii
Preface	xi
List of translations and abbreviations	xiii
 Introduction	 I
ALIX COHEN
1 Kant's lectures on anthropology: some orienting remarks	10
WERNER STARK
2 Self-cognition and self-assessment	18
RUDOLF A. MAKKREEL
3 Kant on the phenomenology of touch and vision	38
GARY HATFIELD
4 Meat on the bones: Kant's account of cognition in the anthropology lectures	57
TIM JANKOWIAK AND ERIC WATKINS
5 The anthropology of cognition and its pragmatic implications	76
ALIX COHEN
6 Affects and passions	94
PATRICK R. FRIERSON
7 The inclination toward freedom	114
PAUL GUYER
8 Empirical desire	133
ALLEN W. WOOD

9	Kant as “vitalist”: the “principium of life” in Anthropologie Friedländer	151
	SUSAN MELD SHELL
10	Indispensable education of the being of reason and speech	172
	G. FELICITAS MUNZEL
11	Kant on civilisation, culture and moralisation	191
	CATHERINE WILSON
12	Cosmopolitical unity: the final destiny of the human species	211
	ROBERT B. LOUDEN
13	What a young man needs for his venture into the world: the function and evolution of the “Characteristics”	230
	JOHN H. ZAMMITO
	Bibliography	249
	Index	265