

The German-Jewish Experience Revisited

---

Edited by Steven E. Aschheim
Vivian Liska

In cooperation with the Leo Baeck Institute Jerusalem

DE GRUYTER

Contents

Preface — v

Ofri Ilany

The Jews as Educators of Humanity – a Christian-Philosemitic Grand Narrative of Jewish Modernity? — 1

Moshe Idel

Transfers of Categories: the German-Jewish Experience and Beyond — 15

Bernd Witte

German Classicism and Judaism — 45

Sander L. Gilman

Aliens vs. Predators: Cosmopolitan Jews vs. Jewish Nomads — 59

Stefan Vogt

Between Decay and Doom: Zionist Discourses of “Untergang” in Germany, 1890 to 1933 — 75

Peter Jelavich

Popular Entertainment and Mass Media: The Central Arenas of German-Jewish Cultural Engagement — 103

Emily J. Levine

Aby Warburg and Weimar Jewish Culture: Navigating Normative Narratives, Counternarratives, and Historical Context — 117

Ofer Ashkenazi

The Jewish Places of Weimar Cinema: Reconsidering Karl Grune’s The Street — 135

Jens Hacke

Jewish Liberalism in the Weimar Republic? Reconsidering a Key Element of Political Culture in the Interwar Era — 155

Till van Rahden

History in the House of the Hangman: How Postwar Germany Became a Key Site for the Study of Jewish History — 171

Stefanie Schüler-Springorum

Non-Jewish Perspectives on German-Jewish History. A Generational Project? — 193

Matthias Morgenstern

Rabbi S. R. Hirsch and his Perception of Germany and German Jewry — 207

Shulamit S. Magnus

Between East and West: Pauline Wengeroff and her Cultural History of the Jews of Russia — 231

Shelly Zer-Zion

The Anti-Nazi Plays of Habimah during the 1930s and the Making of Eretz-Israel Bildung — 247

Amir Eshel and Na'ama Rokem

Berlin and Jerusalem: Toward German-Hebrew Studies — 265

Steven E. Aschheim and Vivian Liska

Postscript — 273

Notes on Contributors — 277