

Contents

List of Figures	page viii
List of Maps	xii
List of Plates	xiii
Acknowledgements	xvi
1 Early Globalization, Rising Cosmopolitanism and a New World of Goods	1
2 Fabric and Furs: A New Framework of Global Consumption	30
3 Dressing World Peoples: Regulation and Cosmopolitan Desire	87
4 Smuggling, Wrecking and Scavenging: Or, the Informal Pathways to Consumption	137
5 Tobacco and the Politics of Consumption	190
6 Stitching the Global: Contact, Connection and Translation in Needlework Arts in the Sixteenth through Nineteenth Centuries	248
7 Conclusion: Realizing Cosmopolitan Material Culture	289
Select Bibliography	298
Index	340
Colour plates are to be found between pp. 174 and 175	