

Contents

List of Figures	page ix
List of Tables	xi
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xv
Introduction	1
Relationships, Networks, and Circles	4
An Intermediate Level of Action and Interpretation	9
A Fundamentally Dynamic Interpretation	11
Sources	12
The Toulouse Survey	12
The Caen Panel	14
National Surveys	17
Stages in the Exploration of Relationships and Personal Networks	18
PART I FOUNDATIONS OF A SOCIOLOGY OF RELATIONAL DYNAMICS
1 Understanding Relationships	23
Characterizing Relationships	24
Relationships in Networks and Circles	31
Forms of Regulation	41
2 Analyzing Networks	49
Forms of Personal Networks	51
Size and Composition of Personal Networks	53
Indices to Describe Network Structure	58

A Structural Typology of Personal Networks	61
Assemblage and Composition	70

PART II NETWORKS AND THEIR DYNAMICS

3	Relationships Do Not Come Out of Nowhere	75
	Contexts, Networks, and Relationships Interact	76
	Collective Contexts Create Meeting Opportunities	79
	From Contexts to Relationships: Individuation and Decoupling	83
	Expansion of the Network: My Friends' Friends	89
	From Origination to Designation	90
4	The Dynamics of Relationships	93
	Multiplexity: Taking a Relationship into Different Worlds	94
	Specialization: Doing Fewer Things Together	97
	Individuation: Singling Out One Person	101
	Embeddedness: Becoming Part of a Circle	103
	Dissociating Ties from the Original Context: Toward "One-to-One" Relationships	104
	Only Connect: The Dynamic of Network Construction	106
	Impending Adulthood Brings a Change in the Way Relationships Are Formed	110
5	Relationships That End, Relationships That Endure	115
	The Reasons Given When Relationships End	115
	Disappearance of Context and Loss of Contact	118
	The Network Effect and Chain Reactions	119
	Social Distance: A Gulf Opens Up	120
	Spatial Distance: An Elastic Factor	122
	Conflict: A Cause That Is Not So Intrinsic	123
	Who Loses Which Relationships and Why?	125
	The Factors That Make for Lasting Relationships	128
6	Networks and Their Dynamics	135
	Changes in Size and Composition	136
	Changes in Network Structure	140
	Typical Sequences in the Evolution of Young People's Networks	141
	Relative Structural Stability	142
	Dissociation	144
	Densification	147

Centralization	149
Decentralization	152
7 As the Years Go By	159
Major Changes over the Life Course	160
Biographical Transitions	165
Some Stories of Ordinary Transitions to Adult Life	170
The Education-to-Work Transition	170
Moving In Together	171
Birth of the First Child	175
Some Biographical Events Are Less Due to the Life Cycle	177
Geographical Mobility	177
Unemployment	180
Professional Bifurcation	181
Breaking Up with a Partner	183
Coming Out	186

PART III NETWORKS AND SOCIAL WORLDS

8 Networks Have a Spatial Dimension	193
Where Do Our Close Friends and Relatives Live?	194
Very Local Networks	195
Strong Ties Withstand Distance Better	196
Urban and Rural Networks	198
Mobility	200
Mobility within the Country	201
Moving Abroad	204
Establishing a Local Network	206
9 Soft Segregation	210
Social Similarities and Relationships	211
Similarity in Age	214
Similarity of Socio-Occupational Category	217
Gender Similarity	224
Variations in Similarity and Network Composition	226
What Changes?	228
10 Relationships and Networks As Resources	231
Relationships in the Labor Market	235
Crossing Organizational Boundaries	241
Mutual Aid	243
Influence	246

11	Unequal Networks	255
	Unequal Networks	255
	Variations in the Number of Relationships	256
	Variations in Network Composition	261
	Network Structure	265
	Mutual Aid and Inequalities	266
	Dynamics That Foster Inequalities	267
	Social Differentiations in the Establishment of Relationships	268
	The Smallest Ones Shrink	270
	Unfavorable Events for the Unfavored	272
	Escaping One's Social Destiny	274
12	Networks Online and Offline	281
	Relationships and Personal Networks: A Historical Perspective	283
	Is the World Smaller?	285
	Does the Existence of Electronic Means of Communication
	Influence the Size of Personal Social Networks?	285
	Online Encounters?	290
	The Emergence of "Very Weak Ties"?	292
	The Homophily of Online Ties	293
	Communicating from Afar . . . or from Nearby	296
	Communicating More Quickly, Staying Permanently
	Connected	298
	Conclusion	301
	References	307
	Index	317