

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Foreword	1
About time	2
The historical persistence of total ideologies	5
A misleading alternative to total ideologies	8
Games, the alternative	12
Sex, selection, and culture	14
The long road to the canonical conception of culture	16
The common descent of nature and culture	20
Strategies and Players	22
Part 1
Canonical games
1. Conflict	27
1.1. History, the speeches, and the funeral oration	27
1.2. Pericles' problems	30
1.3. What to praise	34
1.4. In praise of Athenian culture	37
1.5. The city in crisis	41
1.6. The answer before dying	45
2. Coordination	53
2.1. Democracy, warfare, and the political system	55
2.2. The contrast of nature and conventions	60
2.3. To have a civic morality	63
2.4. Starting with signs	66
2.5. Exchanging signs	69
2.6. From signs to values	71
2.7. The political sign	73
3. Contract	79
3.1. Thorns in Augustine	81
3.2. The insufficiency of rhetoric	84

3.3. The importance of wisdom and happiness	86
3.4. The demise of the classical tradition	89
3.5. Undoing a labyrinth of doubts	91
3.6. Among digns	93
3.7. Which meaning?	96
3.8. Signs and things	100
3.9. Knowledge and semiosis	105
3.10. How and where to find the norms	109
3.11. The light within the heart	113

Part 2

Ancestral games

4. Origin	123
4.1. The anthropological ideology	123
4.2. Cultural cohesion	126
4.3. Nature approximately	128
4.3.1. Escaping Rousseau, chasing Darwin	130
4.4. Predators and prey in interaction	133
4.4.1. Groups in the natural world	135
4.5. Cooperation and conflict within species	137
4.6. Signs displayed	139
4.7. A natural typology of human societies	140
4.7.1. Hierarchical societies	141
4.7.2. Individualistic societies	142
4.8. Toward sex	143

5. Sex, signals	145
5.1. The case for individuality	147
5.2. The case for sex	150
5.3. Live sex	153
5.4. The maintenance of sex: The fall of the virgin lesbians	157
5.5. Winning without winning	161
5.6. Choosing a mate, selecting signs	163
5.7. Signs in a continuously drifting world	166
5.8. Deceptive and honest signalling	168
5.9. Why not deception everywhere?	170
5.10. Truth without conventions	172

Part 3

Individual games

6. Strategies	177
6.1. Anatomy of the game	178
6.2. Complex utility	181
6.3. Adding up to zero	183
6.4. Pennies for your thoughts	186
6.5. Ruling the game	189
6.6. In equilibrium	192
6.7. Cutting and choosing the slices of a magical pizza	196

7. Players	201
7.1. The storm blast came	202
7.2. A ghastly crew of uncooperative players	205
7.3. Serving time	210
7.4. Unto others	212
7.5. The tit-for-tat blues	215
7.6. Someone's gotta give	218
7.7. It is not yellow; it is Chicken	221
7.8. Signs of asymmetry and asymmetric players	225
7.9. Types, tokens, and inflated signs	229

Afterword	233
The cause of conflict between cultures	234
Sexualized culture	240
The traditional fallacies of cultural semiotics	242
The future of cultural semiotics	246

Notes	249
--------------	-----

References	265
-------------------	-----

Index	297
--------------	-----