

Contents

List of Abbreviations	IX
Preface	XI
Acknowledgments	XIII
Chapter 1: Giving the Sacred the Word: An Introduction	1
The Sacred in Question	1
Attempting Another Terrain	3
The Reasons Behind and Limitations of the Study	8
Local Epistemics and Standpoint Theory	12
An Overview of the Structure	18
Chapter 2: Mapping the Boundaries of the Sacred	23
2.1 Introduction	23
2.2 Hunters of the Sacred: The Search for the Ultimate and its Determinate Expressions	27
2.2.1 Emile Durkheim: The Sacred as Manifestation of the Societal Spirit	27
2.2.2 Rudolf Otto: The Sacred as an Encounter with the Wholly Other	36
2.2.3 Mircea Eliade: Sacred Reality or Sacred in Reality?	57
2.3 Minding the Gap: The Sacred, the Parallax View, and the Call for Negotiation	83
2.3.1 Levinas and the In-finite Gap	84
2.3.1.1 The Sacrality of Other's Otherness	84
2.3.1.2 The Face as Manifestation of the Sacred Chasm ..	89
2.3.1.3 God as In-finity and the Other's Alterity	92
2.3.1.4 Minding the Gap that Bites	98
2.3.2 Slavoj Žižek and the Parallax View	103
2.3.2.1 The Insuperable Gap	103
2.3.2.2 The Self's Inner Gap	105
2.3.2.3 Divine Ontology and Violence of the Sacred	115
2.3.2.4 The Gaps of Žižek	125
2.3.2.5 Back to Basics: Beyond the Levinasian and Žižekian Gap	130

2.4	The Insistence of the Sacred: The Constant Quest for Meaning	132
2.4.1	The Porousness of Human Existence	133
2.4.2	Black Hole of Nihilism or Jumping Board into the Depths of Meaning?	139
2.4.3	The Persistence of the Sacred	145
2.4.4	Contestation of the Sacred	149
2.4.5	Violence of the Sacred or Violating the Sacred?	154
2.5	Chapter Conclusion	161
	Chapter 3: Sacred Canopies vis-à-vis the Filipino Weltanschauung	165
3.1	Introduction	165
3.2	What Asia? Which Filipino?	167
3.2.1	Asianism Even Among Asians	171
3.2.2	Filipino-ness: Conflictedness Equals Ruined Identity?	179
3.2.3	Search for the 'Filipino' Self as Essentialist and Nativist?	183
3.2.4	Neither Orientalism/Asianism nor Nativism/Essentialism ..	192
3.3	The Ilustrado Retrieval of the Sacred: Religiosity in Search of Identity	195
3.3.1	Pedro Paterno: The Much-Hated Turncoat	198
3.3.1.1	Bathalismo: Paterno's Invention in La Antigua Civilización Tagalog?	201
3.3.2	Jose Rizal: The Hero in European Coat	205
3.3.2.1	Krausismo and the Pursuit of the Spanish Armonia Perfecta	210
3.3.2.2	Rizal's Estado de Religiosidad de los Pueblos en Filipinas	221
3.3.3	Emilio Jacinto: Coating Darkness with the Light of Loob	234
3.3.3.1	Liwanag at Dilim: The Logic of Loving the True Light	235
3.3.3.2	Loob: The Sacred Internal as the Ethical External	238
3.3.3.2.1	Loob as Interiority Without Margins	239
3.3.3.2.2	Loob and Pag-abot	242
3.3.3.2.3	Loob as Abot-Dama	257
3.3.4	Jacinto's Retrieval of the Divine Moral Order	266
3.3.5	Beyond Sacralization of the Revolution	269
3.4	Pakikipagkapwa-loob: Axis of Relations as a Tool in Understanding the Sacred as Negotiation	270

3.4.1	Revisiting the 'Kapwa' Discourse	271
3.4.1.1	Kapwa: The Philosophico-Anthropological Dimension	273
3.4.1.2	Kapwa: The Religious Dimension	276
3.4.1.3	Kaluluwa and Kapwa: The Moral and Ethical Dimensions	279
3.5	Loob, Kaluluwa, and Kapwa: The Dimension of Sacred as an Outcome of Negotiation	283
3.6	Sacred Ideas in Sacred Ideals: Back to Paterno, Rizal, and Jacinto	297
3.7	Chapter Conclusion	299

Chapter 4: The Divine in Transitions and The Sacred in

Translations	303
4.1 Introduction	303
4.2 Retrieval of the Sacred via Metalinguistic Analysis	305
4.2.1 Mercado's Methodology	308
4.2.2 Loob and Sakop as the Arche of the Filipino Sense of the Sacred?	314
4.2.2.1 Banal as a Departure from the Sacred-Profane Binary	314
4.2.2.2 The Ultimate as an Apersonal God?	319
4.2.2.3 The Sacred, The Ultimate, and The In-between ...	324
4.2.2.4 Final Word on Mercado	334
4.3 The Sacred of the New History Movement and its Grey Boundaries	335
4.3.1 Multi-perspectival Re-rooting as New History's Methodology	337
4.3.2 Pasyon, Conversion, and Banal's Incidental Recuperation ...	341
4.3.2.1 Wrestling the Sacred from Transcendence	342
4.3.2.2 loob Navigating the Greater Loob	349
4.3.2.3 Banal na Loob and the Challenge of Going beyond Linguistics	358
4.4 What has been gained so far?	360
4.5 The Challenge of Reimagining the Divine in the Thoughts of Hartshorne and Belita	364
4.5.1 Charles Hartshorne and his Search for a Worshipful God ...	365
4.5.1.1 Religion and the Entailment of Believing	368
4.5.1.2 The Dual Transcendence	370
4.5.1.3 The Surrounding Divine Presence	384

4.5.2 Jimmy Belita: Evolutionary Theory, Popular Religiosity, and the Icons of Vulnerability	392
4.5.2.1 From Clash of the Sacred to Sacred Synthesis	393
4.5.2.2 Aesthetics, Ethics, and the Sympathy for God	398
4.6 Fractality as Mutuality in Plurality	410
4.7 Chapter Conclusion	416
Chapter 5: In Other Words ...: A Conclusion	419
Checking in and Finding out	419
The Sacred despite the Gap	422
Sacred's Domesticity and Production of Identity	423
The God in 'Need' of Sympathy	426
Watch Out!: Opportunities and Pitfalls of the Filipino Sacred	428
Philosophy and Political Maturity	428
Environmental Studies and Nature as the Greater Loob	429
Revolutionizing 'God' in Theodicy and Theology	430
Indigenous Ontology and Philippine Studies	431
Bibliography	433
Appendix	473
Index	491