

Jürgen Osterhammel
and Niels P. Petersson

Translated by Dona Geyer

globalization

a short history

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS
PRINCETON AND OXFORD

Contents

Preface vii

I. "Globalization": Circumnavigating a Term 1

A Diagnosis of the Present and a Term for a Historical Process 1

The Core Concept and the Controversies 5

II. The Dimensions of Globalization 13

World System—Imperialism—Global History 14

Networks and Interaction Spheres 21

Historical Periods 27

III. The Development and Establishment of Worldwide Connections Until 1750 31

Long-distance Trade, Empires, Ecumenes 31

Gunpowder Empires and Maritime Domains 42

Holes in the Net 49

IV. 1750–1880: Imperialism, Industrialization, and Free Trade 57

Early World Politics and Atlantic Revolutions 57

The Far-reaching Impact of the Industrial Revolution 62

Empires and Nation-States 69

The Emergence of a World Economy 76

V. 1880–1945: Global Capitalism and Global Crises 81

- The Experience of Globality, Global Economy, and World Politics at the Turn of the Century 81
Imperialism and World War 90
1918–1945: Global Crises and Conflicts 99
The “American Century” 107

VI. 1945 to the Mid-1970s:
Globalization Split in Two 113

- Political Spaces: Power Blocs, Nation-States, and Transnational Movements 113
The Institutions of the Global Economy 121
Sociocultural Globalization? 130

VII. Conclusion 141

- A New Millennium 141
On the Road to a Global Age? 145
Globalization: Putting the Concept into Perspective 150

Notes 153

Recommended Literature 171

Index 181