

CONTENTS

---

Acknowledgments

vii

PART I: GETTING TO KNOW YOU

1. Beauty or Beast?
Margaret Smith Crocco 3
2. Spreading the News about Social Studies
Gene Maeroff 15
3. The “Information” Media: Social Studies’ Main Competitor
Carlos Cortes 25

PART II: HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVES

4. A Fickle Lover: Experiences with the Media in Historical Context
Ronald Evans 39
5. Headlines and Furrowed Brows: NCSS Engagement with Social Studies Critics and the Press
Tedd Levy 55
6. Dispatches from the Front Line of the Culture Wars
Linda Symcox 67
7. The Illusion of Knowledge: Editorial Perspectives on the Teaching and Learning of History
Richard J. Paxton 79

PART III: LESSONS FROM THE FIELD

8. The Press and Global Education
Merry Merryfield 93

vi CONTENTS

9. Riding the Tiger: The Press, Myra, and Me
David Sadker 109
10. Waiting for the Other Shoe to Drop
Mark Sass 119
11. What Counts as a (News/His) Story? Whose (News/His) Story?
Catherine Cornbleth 125
12. When Your Lesson Plan Ends Up on the Front Page
James McGrath Morris 135

PART IV: TEACHING ABOUT/WITH THE MEDIA

13. Give Us 8 Seconds and We'll Give You ... the Business
Doug Selwyn 141
14. Children's Exposure to Trauma and Violence in the Media:
Evolving Literacy Skills to Counter Hype and Foster Hope
Michael Berson and Ilene Berson 159
15. Reading the "News" and Reading the "World" in High School
Social Studies Classrooms
Alan J. Singer and Michael Pezone 171

PART V: NEW MEDIA AND CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION

16. Democratic Education and Self-Publishing on the Web
Howard Budin 189
17. Blogs in the Machine
Judith Cramer 199

PART VI: IMPROVING THE RELATIONSHIP

18. Practicing What We Teach
Richard Theisen 215
19. Covering the Conflict and Missing the Point
Richard Lee Colvin 225
20. Down from the Tower and into the Fray: Adventures in Writing for the Popular Press
E. Wayne Ross 245
- About the Authors 263