

Contents

List of Maps and Illustrations xi

Abbreviations

xii

| | |
|--|-----|
| Introduction. India's 'Domiciled Community': The Ambivalence of Whiteness under the British Raj | 1 |
| 1. Aims, themes, and focus of the book | 1 |
| 2. Historiographical preliminaries | 3 |
| 3. Scope, terminologies, and sources | 9 |
| 1. British Prestige and Fears of Colonial Degeneration | 14 |
| 1. Introduction | 14 |
| 2. Two faces of colonial racism: prestige and degeneration | 15 |
| 3. Colonials as personifications of prestige | 18 |
| 4. Bourgeois selves and their struggles against degeneration | 27 |
| 5. Conclusion | 45 |
| 2. The Origins and Emergence of the 'Domiciled Community' | 48 |
| 1. Introduction | 48 |
| 2. 'Poor whites': their origins, lives, and perceived anomalies | 49 |
| 3. The domiciled community: its emergence and categorization | 59 |
| 4. Conclusion | 76 |
| 3. The 'Eurasian Question': The Domiciled Poor and Urban Social Control | 78 |
| 1. Introduction | 78 |
| 2. Imperialism and the ambivalence of civilizing | 79 |
| 3. Colonial Calcutta and Pauperism Commissions | 83 |
| 4. European pauperism diagnosed: alleged symptoms and suggested remedies | 94 |
| 5. Disciplinary schemes and quests for alternative spaces | 103 |
| 6. Conclusion | 110 |
| 4. 'European Schools': Illiteracy, Unemployment, and Educational Uplifting | 116 |
| 1. Introduction | 116 |
| 2. 'European education': institutional evolution and ideological foundations | 117 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 3. Educational inclusion and its cultural and class ambiguities | 128 |
| 4. Conclusion | 135 |
| 5. Towards a Solution to the Eurasian Question: Child Removal and Juvenile Emigration | 137 |
| 1. Introduction | 137 |
| 2. St Andrew's Colonial Homes at Kalimpong: objectives and historical significance | 138 |
| 3. Domesticity and colonial child removal | 146 |
| 4. Labouring back into the Empire: domestic discipline and vocational training | 160 |
| 5. The limits to 'child-saving': India and its place within the British Empire | 176 |
| 6. Conclusion | 178 |
| 6. Disputing the Domiciliary Divide: Civil-Service Employment and the Claim for Equivalence | 181 |
| 1. Introduction | 181 |
| 2. Criteria for commanding positions: the historical background | 182 |
| 3. The associations of the domiciled community | 186 |
| 4. Fitness to rule: 'home-born' versus domiciled candidates | 194 |
| 5. 'Britishness' and its discontents: confrontations with the Viceroy | 201 |
| 6. Constitutional reform and the 'minoritarian' claim for legal protection | 209 |
| 7. Conclusion | 218 |
| Conclusion: Race, Class, and the Contours of Whiteness in Late British India | 219 |
| Select Bibliography | 224 |
| Index | 235 |