

Notes on contributors	vii
1. Identity Formation and Political Elites in the Post-Socialist States David Lane	1
Part I Conceptualising Identities
2. European Identity Making and Identity Transfer Ireneusz Pawel Karolewski	11
3. Russia's Identity: Between the 'Domestic' and the 'International' Richard Sakwa	33
4. Neoliberalism, Exogenous Elites and the Transformation of Solidarity Peter Zeniewski	53
Part II Formation of Elites
5. The Elite–Population Gap in the Formation of Political Identities. A Cross-Cultural Investigation Heinrich Best	71
6. Business Elites and the Role of Companies in Society: A Comparative Study of Poland, Hungary & Germany Katharina Bluhm, Bernd Martens &amp; Vera Trappmann	87
7. Supranational Attachment of European Elites and Citizens György Lengyel	109
Part III Country Studies
8. Balancing National Uncertainty and Foreign Orientation: Identity Building and the Role of Political Parties in Post-Orange Ukraine Inna Melnykovska, Rainer Schweickert &amp; Tetiana Kostiuhenko	131
9. Chechen Elites: Control, Cooption or Substitution? John Russell	149

CONTENTS

10. Citizenship, Collective Identity and the International Impact on Integration Policy In Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania Magdalena Solska	165
11. The Dynamics of Elite Networks and Patron–Client Relations in Afghanistan Timor Sharan	185
Index	205