

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on Contributors	viii
Introduction: Political Violence and Democracy in Western Europe, 1918–1940 Kevin Passmore	1
1 Political Violence in Italy and Germany after the First World War Mark Jones	14
2 Fighting Fascism with Its Own Weapons: A Common Dark Side? Stéfanie Prezioso	31
3 Kamerad or Genosse ? The Contested Frontkämpfer Identity in Weimar Revolutionary Politics Matthew N. Bucholtz	48
4 Violence, Body, Politics: Paradoxes in Interwar Germany Sven Reichardt	62
5 Necessary Evil, Last Resort or Totally Unacceptable? Social Democratic Discussions on Political Violence in Germany and the Netherlands Kristian Mennen	97
6 Duelling with Words and Fists: Meeting Hall Violence in Interwar France Chris Millington	112
7 The Colonial Roots of Political Violence in France: The Croix de Feu, the Popular Front and the Riots of 22 March 1936 in Morocco Caroline Campbell	127
8 Lighting the Fuse: Terrorism as Violent Political Discourse in Interwar France Annette Finley-Croswhite and Gayle K. Brunelle	144

9	Gendarmes Facing Political Violence: Belgium, 1918–1940 Jonas Campion	160
10	Narratives of Violence: Fascists and Jews in 1930s Britain Daniel Tilles	173
	Bibliography	200
	Index	204