

Contents

Foreword	xi
Preface	xiii
Acknowledgments	xvii
List of terms	xix
List of identities	xxi
Timeline	xxiii
1 Introduction	1
Interlinking perspectives	2
The process of research	7
With my daughter	12
Organization of the book	14
2 Past and present: Forty-four years of transformation	18
Circumstances in 1970	19
Circumstances in 2013	22
Transformational processes	28
Demographic patterns among the Qermezi, 1970–2000	31
3 The revolution and the Islamic Republic: Reflections on 1978–2013	36
Experiencing the revolution	36
Imprisonment of Qashqa'i leaders	42
Martyrs of the Iraq–Iran war	58
The state and the tribe	69
New revolutionary Islamic councils for nomads and villagers	107
New faces in the tribe	116
4 Reclaiming culture: The politics of resistance and defiance: Reflections on 1992	144
Attire	144
Religious belief and practice	149

Ritual and ceremony	152
Nasir Qermezi's wedding	154
Ibrahim Qermezi's wedding	165

5 The hope of spring: Reflections on 1995—winter and spring 174

Struggles over land	174
Life in town	189
Welcoming the New Year	201

6 Death and memory: The end of the life of a Qashqa'i tribesman in Iran: Reflections on 1995—summer 211

Borzu Qermezi's last spring	212
Borzu Qermezi's demise and burial	213
Third-day memorial	217
Seventh-day memorial	218
Adorning the gravesite	223
Thursday afternoon visitations	225
Fortieth-day memorial	226
Events in the year after the death	228
One-year memorial, 1996	229
Second anniversary, 1997	232

7 Life moves on: Reflections on 1996 234

Shahriyar Qermezi, parliamentary deputy	234
Teachers, schools, and students: The promise of formal education	256

8 Decisions and consequences: Reflections on 1997 and 1998 303

Mohammad Karim Qermezi sells his flock	303
A split in the family	312
Abbas Qermezi and his rifle	325

9 Facing the future: Reflections on 1999 332

Revolutionary Islamic councils for villages and towns	332
A wedding postponed	338
Assaults against their lands	348
A new settlement at Mulleh Balut	360

Conclusion 372

Glossary	376
Bibliography	379
Index	393