

The White Terror

Antisemitic and Political Violence in Hungary, 1919–1921

Béla Bodó

Political prisoner in Transdanubia, about to be executed

Source: The Photo Archive of the Hungarian National Museum, MNM 2713-1958.

Contents

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| List of maps                                | vi  |
| List of figures                             | vii |
| Acknowledgements                            | ix  |
| Preface: a village hanging                  | xii |
|    |     |
| 1 The Tószegi Affair: the role of rumors           | 1   |
| 2 Rhythm of violence                               | 44  |
| 3 The Red Terror as a reaction to the White Terror | 88  |
| 4 The space of violence                            | 130 |
| 5 The forms of violence                            | 179 |
| 6 Sexual assaults                                  | 220 |
| 7 Violence as social positioning                   | 238 |
| 8 The bourgeois rebels                             | 268 |
|    |     |
| Epilogue                                    | 300 |
| Bibliography                                | 311 |
| Index                                       | 328 |