Digital Communication and Media Linguistics

WITH CASE STUDIES IN JOURNALISM, PR, AND COMMUNITY COMMUNICATION

ALEKSANDRA GNACH
Zurich University of Applied Sciences

WIBKE WEBER
Zurich University of Applied Sciences

MARTIN ENGEBRETSEN
University of Agder, Norway

DANIEL PERRIN
Zurich University of Applied Sciences

CAMBRIDGE
UNIVERSITY PRESS

Contents

Figures ix
Tables xi
Acknowledgments xiii
Preface xv

1 Starting Point: Digital Society and Media Linguistics

Preview 1
Learning Objectives 2
1.1 Digital Society (Aleksandra Gnach) 2
1.1.1 Society and Social Structures 3
1.1.2 Social Change and Technology 7
1.1.3 Sociability in a Digital Society 8
1.1.4 Digital Divide 10
1.2 New Media (Wibke Weber) 12
1.2.1 What Does New Media Mean? 13
1.2.2 Characteristics of New Media 16
1.2.3 The Medium Is the Message 22
1.3 Media Linguistics (Wibke Weber, Aleksandra Gnach) 23
1.3.1 What Is Media Linguistics? 24
1.3.2 Multimodality 28
1.3.3 Media Convergence 28
1.3.4 Mediatization 30
Key Terms 33
Chapter Summary 34
Further Reading 35
Digital Society 35
New Media 35
Media Linguistics 35

2 Theoretical Context: Understanding Public Digital Communication

Preview 37
Learning Objectives 38
2.1 Network Theories (Aleksandra Gnach) 38
2.1.1 From the Industrial to the Digital Age 38
2.1.2 Weightless Economy and New Forms of Capitalism 39
2.1.3 Space of Flows 40
2.1.4 The Network Society 41
2.2 Digitalization and Public Communication (Aleksandra Gnach) 43
2.2.1 The Ideal of a Public Sphere 44
2.2.2 Networked Publics 45
2.2.3 Public Communication in a Networked Public Sphere 47
2.3 Sociality and Social Media (Aleksandra Gnach) 50
2.3.1 Network Sociality 50
2.3.2 Social Media 52
2.3.3 The Power of Weak Ties 53
2.3.4 Social Capital 54
2.3.5 Algorithmic Socialities 56
Key Terms 57
Chapter Summary 58
Further Reading 59
Network Theories 59
Digitalization and Public Communication 59
Sociality and Social Media 59

3 Practical Context: From Writing to Multimodal Communication

Preview 60
Learning Objectives 61
3.1 Writing (Daniel Perrin) 61
3.1.1 The Relevance of Writing in the Digital Age 61
3.1.2 From Handwriting to Digital Writing 63
3.1.3 Routinized Creative Writing on All Channels 65
3.1.4 Building Digital Writers' Multimedia Mindset 67
3.2 Visual Communication (Martin Engebretsen, Wibke Weber) 69
3.2.1 The Visual Turn 69

3.2.2 A Social Semiotic Approach to Visual Communication 70
3.2.3 The Metafunctions 71
3.2.4 Symbolic and Hidden Meanings in Images 78
3.2.5 Visual Culture 79
3.3 Multimodal Communication (Martin Engebretsen, Wibke Weber) 80
3.3.1 What Is Multimodality? 80
3.3.2 What Is a Mode? 81
3.3.3 Different Modes – Different Affordances 82
3.3.4 Multimodal Interplay 85
3.3.5 Multimodal Cohesion 86
3.3.6 Practicing Multimodal Communication 89
Key Terms 91
Chapter Summary 92
Further Reading 93
Writing 93
Visual Communication 93
Multimodal Communication 93

4 Professional Context: Journalism, PR, and Community Communication

Preview 95
Learning Objectives 96
4.1 Digitalization in Journalism and PR (Aleksandra Gnach, Wibke Weber) 96
4.1.1 Digitalization Is Changing the Relationship between Journalism and PR 96
4.1.2 Digitalization in Journalism 101
4.1.3 Digitalization in PR 105
4.2 Why Digital Media Literacy Matters (Wibke Weber) 111
4.2.1 Media Literacy 111
4.2.2 Digital Literacies 114
4.3 Skills for Practitioners (Daniel Perrin, Wibke Weber, Martin Engebretsen, Aleksandra Gnach) 116
4.3.1 Writing: The Key Characteristics of Writing in Digital Environments 116
4.3.2 Multimodal Communication: Mastering Everything? 120
4.3.3 Community Communication: Knowing Your Target Audience 122
4.4 Media Ethics (Wibke Weber) 125
4.4.1 Ethics in a Nutshell 126
4.4.2 Applied Ethics in Journalism and PR 126
4.4.3 From Media Ethics to Digital Media Ethics 129
Key Terms 132
Chapter Summary 133
Further Reading 135
Digitalization in Journalism and PR 135
Media Literacy 135
Skills for Practitioners 135
Media Ethics 136

5 Doing Media Linguistic Research

Preview 137
Learning Objectives 138
5.1 Frameworks (Aleksandra Gnach, Daniel Perrin) 138
5.1.1 Linguistic Frameworks 139
5.1.2 Ethnographic Frameworks 141
5.1.3 Linguistic Ethnography 143
5.1.4 Digital Ethnography 145
5.1.5 Combining Online and Offline Methods in Digital Ethnography 147
5.2 Expanding Ethnography (Daniel Perrin) 148
5.2.1 Theory Building in the Framework of Grounded Theory (GT) 148
5.2.2 Learning from Experts in the Framework of Transdisciplinary Research (TD) 149
5.2.3 Contextualizing Activity in the Framework of Realist Social Theory (RST) 150
5.2.4 Explaining Change in the Framework of Dynamic Systems Theory (DST) 150

Key Terms 152
Chapter Summary 153
Further Reading 154
Frameworks 154
Expanding Ethnography 154

6 Doing Media Linguistic Analysis

Preview 155
Learning Objectives 156
6.1 Linguistic Analysis (Daniel Perrin) 156
6.1.1 The Material Focus: Tracking Intertextual Chains with Version Analysis 156
6.1.2 The Mental Focus: Identifying Practices with Progression Analysis 158
6.1.3 The Social Focus: Revealing Audience Design with Variation Analysis 160
6.1.4 The Socio-Cognitive Focus: Investigating Language Policying with Metadiscourse Analysis 161
6.2 Visual Analysis (Wibke Weber, Martin Engebretsen) 163
6.2.1 Visual Content Analysis 164
6.2.2 Semiotics 168
6.2.3 Iconography and Iconology 170
6.3 Multimodal Analysis (Martin Engebretsen, Wibke Weber) 174
6.3.1 First Stage: Describing the Multimodal Text 174
6.3.2 Second Stage: Analyzing the Meaning Potentials of the Multimodal Text 176
6.3.3 Third Stage: Putting the Multimodal Text into Context 178
6.3.4 Don't Forget Intuition and Observation 179
6.4 Combining Quantitative and Qualitative Methods (Wibke Weber, Martin Engebretsen) 179
6.4.1 Quantitative or Qualitative? 180
6.4.2 Combining the Two Traditions: John Snow and the Cholera Map 180
6.4.3 Mixed Methods Approach 184
6.4.4 Strengths and Limitations 186
Key Terms 187
Chapter Summary 188
Further Reading 189
Linguistic Analysis 189
Visual Analysis 189
Multimodal Analysis 189
Combining Quantitative and Qualitative Methods 190

7 Case Studies

Preview 191
Learning Objectives 192
7.1 Writing in Journalism: Finding One's Niche in the Dynamic Field of Professional Writing (Daniel Perrin) 192
7.1.1 Contextualizing the MD Case 193
7.1.2 Revealing the Constants during the Investigation Period 194
7.1.3 Identifying the Change during the Investigation Period 195
7.1.4 Revealing Positive Deviants 196
7.1.5 Conclusion: Thinking Outside the Mainstream Box 199
7.2 Multimodal Analysis in Data Journalism: How to Analyze Data Visualizations (Wibke Weber) 200
7.2.1 First Stage: Describing the Multimodal Text 200
7.2.2 Second Stage: Analyzing the Meaning Potentials of the Text 205
7.2.3 Third Stage: Putting the Multimodal Text into Context 209
7.2.4 Conclusion 211
7.3 Visual and Multimodal Analysis in PR: Corporate Storytelling (Martin Engebretsen) 212
7.3.1 First Stage: Describing the Multimodal Text 213
7.3.2 Second Stage: Meaning Potentials and Multimodal Interplay 213
7.3.3 Third Stage: Text as Social Action 217
7.3.4 Conclusion 219

7.4 Community Communication: Ethnographies of Social Networks (Aleksandra Gnach) 220
7.4.1 Doing Fieldwork in an Online Environment 220
7.4.2 Making Sense of Ethnographic Data 222
7.4.3 Deepening Ethnographic Insights through Linguistic Analysis 223
7.4.4 Verifying the Results 231
7.4.5 Conclusion 233
Chapter Summary 234
Further Reading 234

8 Public Communication in Transformation: Algorithmic Culture

Preview 235
Learning Objectives 236
8.1 Algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, and Machine Learning (Wibke Weber, Aleksandra Gnach) 236
8.2 Written by a Robot: Algorithms in Journalism (Wibke Weber) 240
8.3 Communicating with a Chatbot: Algorithms in PR (Aleksandra Gnach) 243
8.4 Algorithms as Actors? (Wibke Weber) 245
Chapter Summary 249
Further Reading 250
Algorithms, Artificial Intelligence, and Machine Learning 250
Algorithms as Actors 250

Appendix (Wibke Weber, Martin Engebretsen) 251
Glossary 265
References 279
Index 307