

The Straight State

SEXUALITY AND CITIZENSHIP IN TWENTIETH-CENTURY AMERICA

Margot Canaday

PRINCETON UNIVERSITY PRESS PRINCETON AND OXFORD

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction	1
PART I: Nascent Policing
1. IMMIGRATION
“A New Species of Undesirable Immigrant”: Perverse Aliens and the Limits of the Law, 1900–1924	19
2. MILITARY
“We Are Merely Concerned with the Fact of Sodomy”: Managing Sexual Stigma in the World War I-Era Military, 1917–1933	55
3. WELFARE
“Most Fags Are Floaters”: The Problem of “Unattached Persons” during the Early New Deal, 1933–1935	91
PART II: Explicit Regulation
4. WELFARE
“With the Ugly Word Written across It”: Homo-Hetero Binarism, Federal Welfare Policy, and the 1944 GI Bill	137
5. MILITARY
“Finding a Home in the Army”: Women’s Integration, Homosexual Tendencies, and the Cold War Military, 1947–1959	174
6. IMMIGRATION
“Who Is a Homosexual?”: The Consolidation of Sexual Identities in Mid-twentieth-century Immigration Law, 1952–1983	214
Conclusion	255
Index	265