

Introduction: Understanding and Overcoming Conflict .....	1
Peter Geiss, Florian Helfer, Sandra Müller-Tietz, and Michael Rohrschneider
Peacebuilding and Reconciliation in the Twentieth Century
Between “Rapprochement” and “Reconciliation”: The Lessons of Franco-German History in the Twentieth Century .....	15
Corine Defrance
A Prime Example for the Objectification of Textbook Representations? Failure and Success of the Franco-German Textbook Discussions in the Twentieth and Twenty-First Centuries ....	37
Rainer Bendick
The End of the Rainbow? Problems of Commemoration and Nation-Building in Post-apartheid South Africa .....	53
Simon Ebert
Peacebuilding in History Teaching Today
Post-Soviet Openness to the West in Russian History Textbooks .....	81
Tatiana Khripachenko
Was Austria the First Victim? Nazism in Austrian History Teaching ...	103
Christoph Kühberger

---

Dual Historical Narratives: A Bottom-Up Approach to Teaching History in an Asymmetric Conflict—PRIME Experiences .....	119
Sami Adwan
Colonial Violence in German and English History Textbooks .....	147
Florian Helfer
Learning from History? Comparative Perspectives
Breaking the Chains of the Narrative: History Teaching, Peacebuilding and the Challenge of Human Universalism .....	183
Peter Geiss
The Prospects for Public History in East Asia: History Textbooks, Museums, Cinema and TV .....	199
Hisaki Kenmochi
The Peace of Westphalia (1648) as a Model for the Middle East? An Interim Summary .....	217
Michael Rohrschneider
Peacebuilding in the Digital Realm
A Web of Peaces: Twitter Narratives on the Peace of Westphalia .....	235
Jonas Bechtold
Peacebuilding on YouTube? Conflicts, National Narratives and Comment Sections .....	259
Sandra Müller-Tietz	