

Table of Contents

Dedication	V
Abbreviations	XIII
Acknowledgements	XV
Foreword	XVII
General Introduction	XXI

Part I: Concepts, Perspectives and Principles 1

Chapter One: Music in Conversation with Social Sciences 3

1.1 Introduction	3
1.1.1 Early Concepts about Music	3
1.1.2 A Shift in the Understanding of Music	4
1.1.3 Towards A Broader Concept	6
1.2 Music and Anthropology	7
1.2.1 Method of Approach	8
1.2.2 Two Sides of the Same Coin	8
1.3 Anthropological Models for Music Study	11
1.3.1 Human Musical Behaviour	12
1.3.2 Human Musical Communications	16
1.3.3 Music as Culture-Symbolizing	23
1.4 Anthropology as Forerunner of Ethnomusicology	28
1.5 Ethnomusicological Issues	29
1.5.1 The Term 'Ethnomusicology'	30
1.5.2 Defining the Boundaries	30
1.5.3 Ethnomusicological Fieldwork	32
1.6 Conclusion	33

Chapter Two: Music and the Church: Principles and Guidelines 35

2.1 Introduction	35
2.2 A Historical Path to Uniformity in Liturgical Chants	37
2.2.1 Biblical Prelude	37
2.2.2 The Roman Connection	38
2.2.2.1 Development of Gregorian Tradition	39
2.2.2.2 Gregorian Contributions	41
2.2.3 Carolingian Reform	43

VII

2.2.4	Medieval/Renaissance Practice of Worship Music	43
2.2.4.1	Medieval Faith	44
2.2.4.2	Medieval Music Practice	45
2.2.4.3	Medieval Compositional Technique	45
2.2.4.4	Renaissance Polyphonic Innovations	46
2.2.4.5	Magisterial Intervention on the New Art	47
2.2.5	The Significance of the Council of Trent	48
2.2.5.1	Immediate Cause	48
2.2.5.2	Remote Cause	50
Chapter Three: The Path to Multicultural Worship and Music		53
3.1	Introduction	53
3.2	The True Nature of Sacred Music	55
3.2.1	The Role of Music in the Worship	58
3.2.2	The Nobility of Worship	59
3.2.3	The Epiphany of Sacred Texts	61
3.2.4	The Unity of the Assembly	62
3.2.5	The Beauty of Worship	65
3.2.6	Participation in the Worship	66
3.3	Ethnomusicology and Magisterium at Crossroads	67
3.3.1	The Highlights	67
3.3.2	The Point of Divergence	68
3.3.3	The Point of Convergence	69
3.4	New Conceptual Trends on Music, Worship and Culture	73
3.4.1	Prospects and Challenges	73
3.4.2	Clarification of Terms	74
3.4.2.1	Multicultural	74
3.4.2.2	Intercultural	77
3.4.2.3	Transcultural and Hypercultural	79
3.4.2.4	Cross-Cultural	80
3.5	Conclusion	81

Part II: Nigerian Multicultural Musical Standpoints	83
Chapter Four: Nigerian Musical Praxis in Historical Perspective	85
4.1 Introduction	85
4.2 Nigeria in Perspective	87
4.2.1 Geographical Environment for Music	91
4.2.2 Population Issue and Distribution	93
4.2.3 Illustrative Map of Nigerian Ethnic Groups	94
4.2.4 Ethnicity and Some Cultural Referents	94
4.2.5 Linguistic Determinants	99
4.2.6 Religious Contexts for Music	101
4.3 Tracing the History of Worship Music in Nigeria	103
4.3.1 Initial Period of Culture-Contact (15 th to 18 th Century)	103
4.3.2 A Historical Hypothesis	104
4.3.3 The Actual Sowing of the Seed (19 th Century)	106
4.3.4 The Budding of the Sown (From Late 19 th to 20 th Centuries)	110
4.4 Conclusion	117
4.4.1 Musical Benefits of Mission in Nigeria	118
4.4.2 Early Setbacks to Development of Indigenous Worship Songs	118
4.4.3 Towards Authentic Indigenous Worship Songs	120
Chapter Five: Traditional Musics of Nigerian Cultures	121
5.1 Introduction	121
5.2 Search for Appropriate Terminology	122
5.2.1 The Nature of African Traditional Music	125
5.2.2 Nigerian Traditional Music	126
5.3 Traditional Music Taxonomy	128
5.3.1 Ethnic Terminologies for Music	128
5.3.2 Traditional Thoughts und Beliefs Underlying Music	132
5.4 The Shaping of Nigerian Music Traditions	139
5.4.1 Hausa Music Tradition	141
5.4.2 Yoruba Music Tradition	143
5.4.3 Igbo Music Tradition	146
5.5 Performance Context and Classificatory Models	149
5.5.1 Social Models	154
5.5.2 Religious Models	156

5.5.3	Historical Models	157
5.5.4	Utilitarian Models	158
5.6	Conclusion	160

Chapter Six: Musical Symbolism and Analysis of Nigerian Organology 161

6.1	Introduction	161
6.2	Construction and Classification of Musical Instruments	161
6.2.1	Construction	162
6.2.2	Classification	163
6.2.2.1	Idiophones	164
6.2.2.2	Membranophones	167
6.2.2.3	Aerophones	169
6.2.2.4	Chordophones	171
6.3	Instrumental Symbolisms	172
6.4	Musical Structures and Analysis	176
6.4.1	Text-Music Rapport	176
6.4.1.1	Speech-Song Juxtaposition/Alternation	176
6.4.1.2	Speech-Born Melody	178
6.4.2	Melodic Forms	181
6.4.3	Rhythmic Organizations	185
6.4.3.1	Speech Rhythm	186
6.4.3.2	Standard Rhythm	187
6.4.3.3	Bell Rhythm	187
6.4.3.4	Polyrhythm and Melorhythm	188
6.5	Conclusion	189

Part III: A Cross-Cultural Study of Nigerian Examples of Christian Worship Music 193

Chapter Seven: Early Practice of Worship Music in Nigeria 195

7.1	Introduction	195
7.2	Christian Faith at Crossroads of Cultures	196
7.3	Development of Christian Worship Music in Nigeria	197
7.3.1	Translation	198
7.3.2	Missionary Musical Practice	199
7.3.2.1	Catholic Practice	200
7.3.2.2	Protestant Practice	200
7.3.2.3	Early Hymns and Ecumenism	202

7.3.3	Stylistic and Cultural Imports	203
7.3.3.1	Culture of Hymnody	205
7.3.3.2	Music Education through Mission Schools	205
7.3.3.3	The Beginning of Music Writing	206
7.3.4	Stylistic and Cultural Inconsistencies	207
7.3.4.1	Textual Provenance and Variations	207
7.3.4.2	Music-Text Coherence	210
7.3.4.3	Content and Structural Unsuitability	213
7.3.4.4	Problems of Musical Notation	216
7.4	Attempts at Indigenisation	217
7.4.1	Parodied Indigenous Worship Songs	219
7.4.1.1	Secular Melodies for Parody	220
7.4.1.2	Parody with Traditional Dance-Song Style	224
7.4.1.3	Parody of Folk Song for Instruments	226
7.4.1.4	Compositional and Social Problems	229
7.4.2	Indigenous Short Responses and Hymns	230
7.4.2.1	Musicological Analysis	233
7.4.2.2	Compositional Problems and Considerations	233
7.4.3	Early Indigenous Sacred Hymns	235
7.4.3.1	Musicological Analysis	237
7.4.3.2	Compositional Problems and Considerations	239
7.5	Conclusion	240
Chapter Eight: Music in Christian Worship: Current Trends		243
8.1	Introduction	243
8.2	Nature and Types of Indigenous Worship Music	244
8.2.1	Examples of Indigenous Liturgical Music	245
8.2.1.1	Nigerian Mass	246
8.2.1.2	Processional Songs	248
8.2.1.3	Indigenous Ritual Songs	250
8.2.2	Examples of Nigerian Religious Music	252
8.2.2.1	Religious Music Terminologies	253
8.2.2.2	Types, Styles and Instrumentation	254
8.3	Textual Considerations	255
8.3.1	Textual Sources	256
8.3.2	Textual Analysis	259

8.4	Musical Forms and Analysis	260
8.4.1	Nigerian Concept of Form	261
8.4.2	Musical Forms	262
8.4.3	Musical Analysis	266
8.4.4	Melodic Structure	268
8.4.5	Compositional Technique	269
8.4.6	Rhythmic Organization	271
8.5	Development of Choir and Choral Culture	274
8.5.1	Nature and Types of Church Choirs	274
8.5.2	Choir Rehearsal and Selection of Songs for Worship	275
8.5.3	Choir Competition	277
8.5.4	Other Music Scenes from Nigeria	280
8.5.5	Problems and Challenges	281
8.6	Conclusion	282
Chapter Nine: Evaluation and Conclusion		285
9.1	Evaluation	285
9.1.1	Research Findings	285
9.1.2	Making a Correct Musical Judgement	286
9.1.3	Pertinent Issues and Possible Resolutions and Recommendations	287
9.1.4	Questionnaire and Feedback	293
9.1.4.1	Method for Distributing the Questionnaires	294
9.1.4.2	The Analysis of the Results from the Questionnaire	294
9.1.4.3	How Much Singing Is Done at Mass in Nigeria and Who Is Doing It?	295
9.1.4.4	The Extent of Music Reading Ability	296
9.1.4.5	Language and Style of Music: Determinants in the Placement of Songs for Worship in Nigeria	297
9.1.4.6	Summary of the Results	298
9.2	General Conclusion	298
Bibliography		301
Appendix		317
Abstract		321
About the Author		323