

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	vii
Notes on contributors	ix
1 Introduction: civil disobedience from Nepal to Norway Tiina Seppälä, Tapio Nykänen, and Tiina Harjumaa	1
PART I
Civil disobedience then and now	9
2 The concept and practices of civil disobedience Petri Koikkalainen, Tapio Nykänen, and Tiina Harjumaa	11
3 Experiments with civil disobedience during Norwegian environmental struggles, 1970–2000 Stellan Vinthagen and Jørgen Johansen	27
4 Civil disobedience and artistic protests – the Áltá and Deatnu disputes and the development of Sámi resistance Tapio Nykänen, Veli-Pekka Lehtola, and Birgitta Vinkka	47
5 Drugs, disobedience, and democracy: civil disobedience and drug policy Mika Luoma-Aho	64

PART II

Alternative insights and extensions of civil disobedience 83

- 6 Open source disobedience – rise of civic hacktivism in Taiwan 85
Sami Kotiranta
- 7 Masked struggle: uncivil disobedience on the streets of Finland 104
Johan-Eerik Kukko
- 8 Is there an alternative tradition of civil disobedience in Europe? 122
Taru Haapala
- 9 Different forms of dissent in anti-deportation activism
in Finland: from refugee protests to civil disobedience 139
Tiina Seppälä
- 10 Dissenting civil society, hunger strikes, and the transitional justice process in Nepal 160
Neetu Pokharel, Som Prasad Niroula, and Tiina Seppälä

PART III

Defending civility in civil disobedience 177

- 11 Academic freedom, resisting intellectuals, and the idea of university in South Asia 179
Arun Gupto
- 12 Understanding whistleblowing: civil disobedience
or uncivil action? 197
Manohar Kumar

- Index* 217