

Contents

Introduction: Images, performance and human society	1
I Image and imagination
1 The world as image: The great image without form	15
2 Imagination and the development of human beings	28
3 Iconic forms of imagination	40
4 Theories and concepts of imagination	56
II Imagination and the imaginary
5 Collectivity and the dynamic of the imaginary	75
6 The imaginary, the symbolic and the real	86
7 The performativity of the imagination	96
8 Images as actions	107
III Imagination and practices of the body
9 The world of play and games	121
10 The anthropology of dance	129
11 The human need for rituals	135
12 Gestures as language	154
IV Mimesis and cultural learning
13 Cultural learning as mimetic learning	169
14 The intangible cultural heritage	180
15 Family rituals	187
16 Family happiness	195
Conclusion: The power of images	215
Notes	223
References	243
Index	258